Dubwath Silver Meadows is a traditional wetland site located near the west end of Bassenthwaite Lake. Maintained by volunteers, it is a peaceful area with a variety of birds, butterflies and rare plants that call it home. The walks consist of stone paths and recycled board walks where you can walk in a loop through a variety of different bogs and heaths.

The site is free for visitors all year round. It is fully accessible for wheelchairs, push-chairs and trampers. Due to deer and ground nesting birds in the area, dogs must be kept on a lead at all times.
